Cathy Saunders (City Clerk) and Barb Westlake (Deputy City Clerk) attended our meeting and provided a verbal report on the progress specifically regarding voluntary disclosure. Cathy informed us that voluntary disclosure for candidates are not permitted as per provincial legislation, the Clerk's office is unable to collect any additional information from candidates. Voluntary self-disclosure for advisory committees is being investigated, and deputy clerk is writing a review on all advisory committee for which advisory committees will be asked for feedback. The Clerk's office will also be organizing open houses for the advisory appointments in the community with advisory committee members, to provide an opportunity to engage community and recruit. In terms of the election, they completed candidate information sessions prior to nominations and participated in campaign school event.

We also had a lengthy discussion about channels we can use to promote advisory committees. We can not access CDIS contact list, however in the next stages of CDIS, when collecting information will ensure it allows for us to send information related to diversity and inclusion.
