

I have lived in London for over 20 years....I think this fireworks ban is crazy why are we letting all these complaining people rule the world.....we might as well ban all the fun ...what is 3 or 4 times a year really hurtwe have been having a Canada day party plus fireworks show for over 5 years everyone in the neighborhood comes out to enjoy it.....we have never had any issues or accidents we are safe and clean up after.....I just think letting all this people take away all the things people love is ridiculous....it's not goin to stop the teenagers from doing it....why don't we outlaw backyard parties nextlet's become the boring city with all the rules and take away from those who enjoy fireworks and want to share their enjoyment of them with their kids family and friends.
