

To London City Council:

I am writing in opposition to a proposed commercial development site that is projected to be located at the corner of Windermere and Adelaide.

The Kilally woods is a biodiverse area, home to many species, flora and fauna. The walking trails offer environmental immersion to the citizens of north-east London. Additionally, the athletic fields create recreational capacity for citizens in an area of dense housing development.

I urge the city council to rethink this proposed development and concentrate on issues of greater importance, such as affordable housing; crisis supports for community members living through addiction and mental distress; environmental protections, ensuring that London maintains its reputation as a city committed to addressing the climate emergency.

Please reconsider this proposed commercial development site.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Alan Brander
