Christine,

In response to an inquiry from John Sennema this week, I have compared completed works observed on site with plans approved by the UTRCA in Application #43/11, issued May 12, 2011.

Based on this review and site observations, I can confirm that the portion of the small tributary which was an open channel has now been enclosed, consistent with plans prepared by Development Engineering London Limited. There is no additional channel enclosure required or anticipated in this area, including the lands which are the subject of a zoning by-law amendment scheduled to be considered on Monday, December 12/11.

My apologies for any confusion regarding this matter, everyone.
