

PETER JACOBUS VEEL

Mr Chairman; respected committee, learned guests and concerned fellow citizens.

I, Peter Jacobus Veel, raised a family, live, work and pay taxes in London.

On Jan. 05, 2012 using the official City of London website, I requested the Material Safety Data Sheets or MSDS's of all chemicals added to London water as soon as possible. Which is a right accorded to all as legislated by the Work Hazardous Materials Information System or WHIMIS.

To date no reply from city staff has been received.

Carpet Bombing all unsuspecting citizens of London with uncontrolled doses of Flouride, a toxic, hazardous, industrial chemical waste, is contrary to Clear Thinking, if not a Law. ^{X2} AND VIOLATES ^{OUR} ~~THE~~ CIVIL RIGHTS ^{X2}

The city of London can not arbitrarily administer other medication such as Prozac no matter how much we want to make sad people 'happy'

I won't burden you further with the pros and cons of water Flouridation, who is doing it or who is not. Let me leave you with this thought.

Back in 1967 some people in London considered water Flouridation a good idea for all.

In 1967 smoking in airplanes, theaters and the work place were common practice.

^{X2} Doctors, some that smoked in their offices recommended tobacco to loose weight and as a therapy to relax.

Have we learned nothing in 45 years ? Thank you all for listening !!!!!
