Re: Update to City of London Entrance Signs

As you enter the City of London, there are a number of signs advising the public that they are entering the City of London and the current population of the City. The population information provided on these signs appears to be inconsistent and out of date.

I therefore respectfully request that the Civic Works Committee (CWC) recommend to Municipal Council that the Civic Administration be requested to replace the entrance signs with new signs providing current population information.

Respectfully submitted,

Virginia Ridley
Councillor Ward 10
