

Hello everyone,

This property was for sale in 2007-2012. I am wondering if it was so important to the City of London ,why did not bought it at the time?

No one wanted it,its not heritage and I think it should be demolished in favour of new development.I am sure what will be but there will be very similar to the areas construction.

I am a Realtor in London,and if no one wanted to buy this house it only makes sense to demolish it and remove it from the heritage list so we can move city of London forward not backward.

Thank you.
