

Mayor's Advisory Panel on Poverty: Community Conversation on draft recommendations

Help us make recommendations that make real change.

The Mayor's Advisory Panel on Poverty was given a six-month mandate to develop recommendations on what more we can do to address poverty in London. These recommendations will only work if they are the community's recommendations.

The panel has developed draft recommendations based on research, best practices, and conversations with the community held in November and December 2015.

We are hosting a conversation to gather community feedback on these draft recommendations. Please join us.
