Skills: I have had the opportunity as a director to serve as Chair for a number of companies and have served on audit, HR and compensation, governance and risk management committees providing me with a broad experience and knowledge of governance issues

Interest reason: I am retiring as Chair of London Hydro in May and would be interested in continuing to serve our community in an area in which I feel I can contribute. The Aiport Authority is an important part of our regional economy and I have been impressed with their growth and managment

Contributions: My ex[perience as a director in both the public and private sector has exposed me to many of the challenges a board faces and I believe my strong commitment to good govenance and accountability to ones stakeholders would enable me to contribute to the Airport

Past contributions: London Hydro and London Health Sciences Centre are two of London's key enterprises and having been chosen by my fellow directors I believe is indicative of their assessment of my contribution the organizations. In each of the organizations I have served on each of the committees. I have benefited from learning so much from the other board members and the management teams there.

Interpersonal: A board must work together collegially and present a united position once decisions are made. Healthy debate in making a decision is necessary. Respect, collaboration and trust are key values of each organization and must be present in every board interaction.
