

An overview of some of the activities from the Cycling Advisory Committee.

Presented by Henk Ketelaars. CAC to TAC

2016 was the year of a new Cycling Master Plan that was adopted by Council in the fall. Staff did a fantastic job on this Master Plan and the CAC had a lot of valuable input.

www.londonbikes.ca is the website where a lot of public input was gathered and is still a resource for much of the information.

The CAC 2017 work plan will reflect many of the Actions & Recommendations contained in the CMP summary book, Page 15-19

The committee purchased a supply of bicycle lights to give away as a safety promotion.

A team of CAC members went to downtown park to meet cyclist, for the purpose of promoting safe cycling and give away these lights and reflective materials.

The committee also participated in the Home Show Jan 27,28,29 and be part of the City's displays

To help increase awareness of improved cycling infrastructure and help promote positive attitude towards cycling, a rather ambitious project was undertaken by the members of the CAC.

With the help of city staff CAC members were able to talk to many visitors about Bike Safety and the current progress of cycling infrastructure.

To further educate the public, a set of safety questions were mounted on a bicycle wheel and right answers were offered prizes.

The public had an opportunity to spin the bicycle wheel and could win a prize for successfully answer a skill testing question.

It made for a very interesting time as many of these simple questions had so many varying answers by the participants.

The most popular item was the Bike & Walk map. People sought out the City's display just to get a map.

Many of City Staff Transportation department were on hand to answer questions about the proposed connection from Richmond to Adelaide, Shift, and Dundas Place.

These display's were very informative and led to interesting discussions.

Some one at the transportation department made this very clear display that was glued to the floor with the proposed cycle track for Downtown on Queens Ave.

For Canada 150 celebrations, CAC members are planning a 150 k ride together with the BIKE FESTIVAL planned for June 25.
