BACKGROUND

Purpose

The purpose of this report is to: summarize recent Ministry of Education announcements regarding early years initiatives relating to The Journey Together: Ontario’s Commitment to Reconciliation with Indigenous Peoples; and, to present for consideration a new Transfer Payment Agreement (TPA) between the Corporation of the City of London and the Province of Ontario to provide funding to support the Corporation of the City of London in its planning role for early years services as Service System Manager under section 56 of the Child Care and Early Years Act, 2014 (CCEYA).

Background

In May 2016, the Government of Ontario released The Journey Together: Ontario’s Commitment to Reconciliation with Indigenous Peoples. This document is the Provincial government’s response to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada’s final report (December, 2015), which outlines 94 calls to action in the areas of child welfare, education, language and culture, health, and justice.

Through The Journey Together, the Provincial government is investing more than $250 million over the next three years in the follow areas:

- Understanding the Legacy of Residential Schools;
- Closing Gaps and Removing Barriers;
- Creating a Culturally Relevant and Responsive Justice System;
- Supporting Indigenous Cultural Revitalization; and,
- Reconciling Relationships with Indigenous people.

There are actionable items within each of these five areas that the Provincial government has committed to move forward, some of which impact the Corporation of the City of London. Within the area of “Closing Gaps and Removing Barriers,” the Provincial government commits to actions that “increase the number of licensed child care spaces and culturally relevant programming off-reserve.”

Based to the 2011 Census conducted by Statistics Canada, we know that there are First Nations, Métis, and Inuit peoples living in London, ON. As well, there are three distinct First Nations communities in close proximity to London: Oneida Nation of the Thames; Chippewas of the Thames First Nation; and, Munsee-Delaware Nation.

One-time funding

In a memo dated November 3, 2016 to Consolidated Municipal Service Managers (CMSMs), the Province provided both provincial Indigenous organizations and service system managers an opportunity to apply for one-time capacity funding. This capacity funding is to support the development of local proposals that expand access to culturally-relevant child care and child and family programs for Indigenous peoples at the local level, observing the following criteria:

- the responsiveness of the proposed program to an identified need, opportunity, or service gap;
- the implementation readiness of the proposed program/provider;
- whether the proposed program would result in a net increase in access to service;
- the extent to which the proposed program would support a balanced distribution of services/resources across groups and communities; and,
- the extent to which the proposed program reflects potential opportunities to leverage existing programs, infrastructure and/or partnerships.

Civic Administration, with support from The N’Amerind (London) Friendship Centre (N’Amerind Friendship Centre), developed an application for one-time capacity funding to support the planning of a collaborative proposal for expanding access to Indigenous-led child care and early years programming. The application was submitted to the Province on November 30, 2016 accompanied by a letter of support from N’Amerind Friendship Centre.

On January 19, 2017, Civic Administration was informed that the application for $13,000 in one-time funding was successful. At that time, the Province also confirmed that local proposals to be developed using the one-time capacity funding are due to the Province on May 31, 2017.

It should be noted that this one-time capacity funding is being used to support Indigenous-led planning exclusively, and that the Corporation of the City of London is supporting this process. Civic Administration applied for this funding opportunity to support local Indigenous planning after consulting with N’Amerind Friendship Centre. It is also worth noting that these actions align with the Provincial government’s aim of encouraging strong, meaningful, collaborative discussion and partnership between CMSMs and Indigenous organizations through this funding opportunity.

Funding Expectations

To be eligible for this one-time capacity funding allocation, the Corporation of the City of London must be prepared to complete the following activities before May 31, 2017:

- Engage Indigenous organizations to provide cultural competency training sessions;
- In collaboration with N’Amerind Friendship Centre, compile existing research and review models for Indigenous-led early years programming in Ontario and beyond. If local gaps are identified, create and administer a plan to gather additional feedback from families; and,
- In collaboration with N’Amerind Friendship Centre, utilize existing knowledge and relationships of Indigenous service providers in Middlesex-London to review data and models for Indigenous-led early years programming. This review will inform the creation of a plan that increases access to culturally relevant family support programming and access to licensed child care for Indigenous families. The process will involve a collaborative review of information and training opportunities regarding the Provincial government’s document How Does Learning Happen? Ontario’s Pedagogy for the Early Years and its application to Indigenous families.

Risks and Particulars of the Transfer Payment Agreement

It is noted that the Transfer Payment Agreement contains the following indemnity clause (Article 11.1, “Indemnification”, page 9) stating:

“The Recipient hereby agrees to indemnify and hold harmless the Indemnified Parties from and against any and all liability, loss, costs, damages and expenses (including legal, expert and consultant fees), causes of action, actions, claims, demands, lawsuits or other proceedings, by whomever made, sustained, incurred, brought or prosecuted, in any way arising out of or in connection with the Project or otherwise in connection with the Agreement, unless solely caused by the negligence or wilful misconduct of the Province.”

In the opinion of Corporate Insurance/Risk Management, the indemnity clause should not prevent the Corporation from moving forward with final approval of this agreement, as the potential benefit of the funds outweigh the associated risk from the indemnity clause.

It is also noted that this funding agreement is retroactively dated to December 1, 2016. Civic Administration has been advised that once the Transfer Payment Agreement has been signed, a lump-sum payment for the full funding allocation will be made to the Corporation of the City of London which can be used to cover any project related costs accumulated on or after that date.

The Corporation of the City of London will mitigate risks associated with this transfer payment agreement by using the optimum level of oversight, control and discipline enabling us to manage risk in changing environments and help provide the proper level of assessment to ensure that the planning outcomes meet the necessary objectives. This will be done using clearly defined expectations of the objectives, functions, and eligibility criteria for all planning activities that are supported by this transfer payment agreement.

The Managing Director of Neighbourhood, Children and Fire Services, or designate, will be administering the contract for the Corporation of the City of London.

Conclusion

The Journey Together capacity funding allocation supports the Corporation of the City of London’s mandated role as Service System Manager in planning for child care and early years under section 56 of the CCEYA, and provides Civic Administration with resources to support meaningful collaborative planning with Indigenous organizations and families in London.

Civic Administration believes these benefits outweigh any risks associated with elements of the Transfer of Payment Agreement the Corporation of the City of London is being asked to sign in order to initiate the flow of funds.

FINANCIAL IMPACT

The planning funds, totalling $13,000, can only be used to cover expenses incurred between December 1, 2016 and May 31, 2017. No additional municipal funding will be required to support these initiatives.
