

From: Joseph Ronald Stinziano

Date: March 9, 2017 at 1:54 PM

Hi Sandy,

As a Fulbright recipient (and future alumnus), I will be eligible to apply for a Fulbright Canada RBC Eco-Leadership grant (<http://www.fulbright.ca/alumni/program-opportunities/eco-leadership-program.html>). The grants are for $2,000 to $4,000, and the deadline for application is usually in late November.

I am bringing this to your attention now, so that we could discuss potential community environmental initiatives that we could do with a grant like that. The funding would be available by the following spring, so we would be looking at a project we can complete in spring 2018. If you could bring this up at EEPAC next week, I would appreciate it. I am thinking that we could apply for it to deal with invasives or naturalization areas that may not have money allotted for next year.

Cheers,
Joe

Joseph R. Stinziano

Fulbright Visiting Researcher at the University of New Mexico
Ph.D. Candidate, Way Lab

The University of Western Ontario