RE: licencing increase for small landlords.

We STRONGLY OPPOSE this increase. This is not feasible for the small landlord whatsoever. We are the ones who have to maintain the properties by ourselves and this is another tax grab by the City of London. You are not trying to control the quality of housing for the disadvantaged, you are acutally making it harder for them, because it is usually the lower income people who rent from the small landlord. This increase is counter productive for the less advantaged. The small landlord are not the weathly ones who can afford this extra expense, unlike the large conglomerates who own the high rise buildings.

We are mostly, the local people who live and work in London. |Personally, I know of 2 families that have moved out of London, because of the way it (the city) is run. This is just another excuse to raise funds. Why don't you get your own accounting dept. in order instead of viewing the tax payer as a source of revneue. We're tired of it !
