- Respectful Workplace Policy, December 3, 2019

|-------------------|

On December 10, 2019 Municipal Council approved the Respectful Workplace Policy (Anti-Harassment/Anti-Discrimination) ("Respectful Workplace Policy") that comes into effect on March 1, 2020. Creating a Respectful Workplace Policy was an important part of the action plan set out in June 2019 to implement recommendations of Rubin Thomlinson.

The Respectful Workplace Policy combines the existing Workplace Harassment Discrimination Prevention Policy, and Code of Conduct for Employees ("Code of Conduct") into one policy with a single dispute resolution and complaint process.

As previously reported in December 2019, when the Respectful Workplace Policy comes into effect, the current Code of Conduct will be null and void. There are some portions of the current Code of Conduct that outline employment obligations that are unrelated to interpersonal conduct (e.g. ethical standards, confidentiality) which need to be retained. As a result, the Civic Administration recommends that the proposed policy attached as Schedule "A" to this report be adopted to address these matters. The proposed policy will maintain established ethical standards of behaviour that must be followed by employees, as well as volunteers, students on placement, and individuals contracted by the City on a "purchase for service" agreement.

Proposed Code of Ethics

The proposed Code of Ethics contains the ethical standards and employment obligations that are currently set out in the Code of Conduct for Employees. The following summarizes the proposed key amendments from the current Code of Conduct that are being proposed in the proposed Code of Ethics:

- Definitions – provides definitions of key terms within the policy, including ethical misconduct, confidential information, and conflict of interest.
- Application – different from the current Code of Conduct, the proposed Code of Ethics will not apply to members of Advisory Committees, Special Committees and Task Forces. The Council Policy, General Policy for Advisory Committees provides ethical standards of behaviour for Advisory Committees, Special Committees and Task Forces.
- Expected Standards of Ethical Behaviour – this section contains the provisions previously set out in the current Code of Conduct. The provisions have been drafted to better articulate the standards, including specific provisions regarding influencing the employment process and preferential treatment.
- Roles and Responsibilities – this section outlines the roles and responsibilities of the City Manager, Human Resources, Managers and Employees. The current Code of Conduct does not contain a similar section.
- Disclosure of Ethical Misconduct – the section sets out to whom employees can direct concerns regarding ethical misconduct and advises that allegations of ethical misconduct received by City Management from any source must be immediately reported to the Director of People Services or the City Manager if the Director of People Services is implicated in the allegation.
- Investigations – the investigation process is drafted to reflect the nature and scope of the concerns that may be raised. It differs from the current Code of Conduct in the following ways:
 - it does not provide for individual action, informal action or mediation, which are more applicable to resolution of interpersonal workplace disputes than ethical misconduct.
 - the role of the City Manager (or delegate) includes the following:
 - they may give direction regarding how more serious concerns are investigated, for example, allegations of theft or fraud; and
 - the Director of People Services may consult with the City Manager as applicable regarding interim measures; and
 - they will determine appropriate corrective and/or disciplinary action where there are findings of a violation(s) in consultation with the applicable manager, the Director of People Services (or delegate) and/or the City Solicitor (or delegate).

Although there are some differences, the investigation process is similar to the current Code of Conduct in that concerns regarding the City Manager, Managing Directors and the Director of People Services will be investigated by an external investigator. Findings related to the City Manager will be reported to Municipal Council for consideration, and findings related to Managing Directors, the Deputy City Manager or the Director of People Services will be reported to the City Manager for consideration.

| CONCLUSION |
|-------------------|

The Civic Administration is recommending the proposed Code of Ethics attached as Appendix “A” to this report be adopted. The proposed Code of Ethics maintains ethical standards of behaviour previously found in the current Code of Conduct. As a standalone Council policy, the Code of Ethics is more robust containing additional sections to explain expectations of ethical behaviour, and roles and responsibilities.

The process for investigation of allegations of unethical behaviour has been amended to clarify the role of the City Manager and to ensure that from a broader corporate perspective, appropriate measures are taken to address violations of the policy.

The City recognizes that involvement in a workplace investigation may be stressful and emotionally upsetting. Employees who have raised a concern or been accused of ethical misconduct, witnesses, and other affected employees may access the counselling services and support provided by the City's employee assistance provider.

Employees who have raised or been accused of ethical misconduct also have the right to be accompanied by a support person of their choice during meetings relating to a complaint made pursuant to this Policy, including their Union/Association representative, if applicable, or a trusted friend (e.g. another manager if they are a management employee).

An allegation is vexatious or made in bad faith if it is made for the purpose of annoying, embarrassing or harassing the respondent, out of spite or vindictiveness, or the individual making the allegation is engaging in improper behaviour such as fraud, deception, or intentional misrepresentation.

A concern or allegation that is made in good faith but is not substantiated is not considered vexatious or to be made in bad faith.

4.10 Confidentiality

The administration of this Policy will be in accordance with the Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act ("MFIPPA"). All concerns received under this Policy and related investigations will be considered strictly confidential subject to the City's obligation to conduct a thorough investigation, take appropriate corrective and/or disciplinary action, or to otherwise disclose information as required by law. The individual who raised the concern, the employee who is alleged to have engaged in ethical misconduct, and any witnesses are also expected to maintain confidentiality. Unjustified breaches of confidentiality will result in corrective and/or disciplinary action.

4.11 Records

Where an investigation results in corrective and/or disciplinary action against an employee, a record of such action will be placed in the employee's Human Resources file. Where there is insufficient evidence to prove that ethical misconduct occurred, no record of the complaint shall be placed in the respondent's Human Resources file.

All records pertaining to enquiries and concerns under this policy will be kept in confidential storage separate from employees' Human Resources files. All records will be subject to the provisions of MFIPPA as noted above and the City's Records Retention by-law.
