Background

The Residential Rental Unit Licensing By-law was implemented in 2010. The current fees for both new and renewal applications are $25. The costs to process new and renewal residential rental unit licenses include inspections by enforcement officers and Fire staff as well as the enforcement of this by-law and administration therefore the costs are estimated to be approximately $230 for new applications and $80 for renewal applications. Based on processing 180 new applications and 1800 renewal applications per year, the increase in revenue would be approximately be $180,000. For comparison purposes, Oshawa charges $320 and Waterloo charges $375 - $658.

Performance Measures Impact

These user fee changes do not directly affect any of the services' key performance measures.

Impacts

- a) Community
Private owners who have not licensed their rental properties will be subject to higher fees.

2013 Service Change Case # 8

Service	By-law Enforcement, Licensing & Property Standards
Initiative	Increase in Residential Rental Unit Licence Fees

b) Community Engagement

The community will learn about these user fee changes through the tabling of the 2013 Property Tax Budget on December 4, 2012.

c) Other City of London services

No other City of London services are affected.

Risks

Should these fees remain unadjusted, it will result in an additional burden on the tax base.

SUMMARY

- This "License Fee" is not like a taxi or other business license where the cost is passed on to hundreds of customers: this License Fee gets passed on to a maximum of four tenant households (for a single tenant household it would be a monthly "Tenant Tax" of $20.00)
- City Taxpayers should not have to subsidize the Million dollar cost for some "Old North" Londoners to keep "undesirables" out of their neighborhoods.

SUMMARY

- The Landlord License Program is a financial disaster and staff did not even disclose this to Councilors when the 2013 budget proposal was put forward.
- So much for giving Council the ability to exercise prudent fiscal oversight!

SUMMARY

- The Residential Tenancies Act; City Zoning by-laws; and Fire Code/Property Standards by-laws all regulate landlords and housing conditions.
- The Licensing By-law is a Million Dollar boondoggle which reflects poorly on Council's oversight of responsible fiscal management.
