

1948 London Majors Baseball Club

National Baseball Congress Can-Am Champions

Norm Aldridge (Trainer)

Stan (Gabby) Anderson (OF)

Joe Bechard (OF)

Joe Black (1B)

Earl Boyd (P)

Cy Bricker (P)

Don Cooper (SS)

Bill Cunningham (OF)

Al Dumouchelle (P)

Russ Evon (OF)

Jack Fairs (C)

Bill Farquharson (Owner)

Russ Getsinger (P)

John Gillies (P)

George (Mush) Higgins (UTL)

John Lockington (OF)

Ken McFadden (3B)

Gord McMackon (2B)

Gord McWaine (UTL)

Skip Pawley (UTL)

Gil Robertson (C)

Bob Rose (UTL)

Angelo Torti (OF)

Clare Van Horne (OF-Mgr.)

Bill Wagner (P)

Tommy White (P)

Prepared by the London Majors Alumni Association in 2020
for the City of London

1948 London Majors Baseball Club

Intercounty Baseball League Champions
Canadian Baseball Congress Champions
National Baseball Congress Champions

On September 29, 1948 at Labatt Memorial Park, the London Majors defeated the Fort Wayne (Indiana) General Electrics 5-0 to win the National Baseball Congress, Canadian-American Championship series. It is estimated that 30,000 spectators were in the stands for the 7 game series, with over 10,000 in attendance for game 7. For winning this prestigious championship the London Majors received the Can-Am Trophy and $5,775 in prize money. The London Majors are the only Canadian baseball team to have done so.

Prepared by the London Majors Alumni Association in 2020
for the City of London