London Plan and Zoning By-law Amendments

Encouraging the Growing of Food in Urban Areas

File: OZ-9332/City of London

What is Proposed?

Amendments to the London Plan, Zoning By-law and Site Plan Control By-law to make it easier to grow food in the urban area (ie. within the Urban Growth Boundary) in accordance with the Urban Agriculture Strategy, which was adopted by Council in November 2017. This project focuses on the “Growing” component of the Strategy and is being considered under the Strategy’s guiding principle to develop supportive municipal policies, regulations, and bylaws, and remove policy barriers to urban agriculture. The intent of the changes is to expand the permissions for growing inside and outside of buildings, in urban greenhouses and in shipping containers, consider policies and regulations to permit growing of food in most place types and zones, and review application process requirements for urban agriculture.

Application Details

Any change to the Zoning By-law must conform to the policies of the London Plan and the 1989 Official Plan, London's long-range planning documents. There are a number of policies in the London Plan which support urban agriculture, particularly the Food System policies (Policies 648-686). The 1989 Official Plan contains general references to agriculture and horticulture which support those uses in specific designations and zones.

This is a City-wide review of London Plan policies, zoning by-law regulations and the site plan by-law.

The London Plan and the Zoning By-law are available at london.ca.
