Through my career and lived experience, I continue to learn and grow through any bias related to diversity, equity and inclusion. I am a committed Londoner seeking to continue to give back in ways that evolve with my professional and lived experiences. With school aged children, I seek to play a greater role in improving the condition of our community and would be honored to serve in this capacity.

Recognizing and understanding that that most of us knowingly, and at times, unintentionally possess inherent bias, I have actively sought-out learning opportunities to learn, such as Cultural Competency trainings (CCO – Indigenous Peoples), Ally Training (LGBTQ), Indigenous Canada Course – UofA and as well as completed LEADS360 as part of my professional EI growth.

In my role in private industry, my role focuses on reaching marginalized communities to balance the inequities, and create opportunities to ensure equity in access to care. This passion has extended into my currently role at LHSC, where I continue to push for equity in access and actively partner within the ecosystem to discuss health system gaps and drive change for our most vulnerable communities.

While with the Toronto Blue Jays, I worked alongside with Toronto Community Housing team members to develop and fund programs for at-youth risk. This was my first exposure, early in my career where I learned the fulfillment and reward of prioritizing efforts that lead to impact – in particular our youth!

As a first generation Canadian, and proud Londoner, it would be my privilege to serve our community as Board Member, London Police Services Board.
